In 1898, W.A. Van Berkel invented the world's first meat-slicing machine—a timeless classic that you can experience today with a Berkel Heritage fly wheel slicer.

With its signature red paint and gold accents, it's truly a work of art. But it's art that's made to work.

Just a touch puts the perfectly balanced flywheel in motion. Smooth, precise rotations inspire confidence. Whisper-quiet operation—because of its traditional, hand-operated design.

The first cut is made. Tissue-thin prosciutto gently tumbles onto a plate. You—and your customers—can't look away.

HERITAGE FLY WHEEL SLICERS

Traditional, hand-operated design

Delivers whisper-quiet operation.

Low-resistance flywheel

Delivers virtually effortless, smooth slicing.

Classic styling

Signature Berkel red paint with gold accents makes the machine a showpiece.

Durable finishes

To resist corrosion, all food contact areas are either stainless steel, anodized aluminum or painted.

Hollow-ground knife

Nominal 12" (300M) or 13" (330M) diameter. Hardened and polished, forged chromium-plated carbon steel for precision cuts and long life.

Selectable slice thickness

Operator adjustable from tissue thin to 3/16".

Automatic feeding

Smoothly delivers product into the knife: Makes slicing fast and convenient.

Clamping device

Solidly holds product for secure operation and even slicing.

Knife ring guard

Protects the non-slicing portion of the knife edge.

Integrated two-stone, dual-action sharpener

Automatically maintains knife sharpness.

No-tool disassembly

Makes cleanup fast and easy.

Heritage Fly Wheel Slicer Stands
